CRYSTAL
in the making

Come and see the only producer of hand-made full lead crystal in England.

The art of glassmaking is over 3000 years old and, even today, we still use these ancient processes of mouth-blowing and hand cutting to create our stunning crystal ranges.

We are extremely proud of our traditional skills, and always welcome visitors to come and watch our craftsmen and women at work producing crystal in the time honoured way.

We produce many styles of crystal, from very modern to highly traditional. One of our earliest styles, Grasmere, is based on a Georgian design and is still our most popular range. Another, Helvellyn, is a reproduction of the very earliest form of glass cutting from the 17th Century and is supplied to British Ambassadors Residences and High Commissions around the world.

From melting our own recipe raw material through mouth-blowing and hand-cutting we are truly unique.

Browse in our factory shop and take in our huge range of crystal wine glasses, tumblers, decanters, bowls, vases and candleholders. All made here at the factory in Ulverston.
